IMPORTANT — DEMO / VERIFICATION NOTICE
This document reflects claims and details displayed on the supplied demo website. Before using it with real customers, the business owner must verify the company's actual service areas, phone number, prices, response commitments, credentials, testimonials, statistics, emergency availability, and operational capabilities. The website currently displays a 555 hotline and several specific business-performance claims. The AI agent must not present unverified demo details as confirmed facts.

1. Company Overview

Q: What is LandscapesUSA?

LandscapesUSA is presented on the website as a commercial landscaping and exterior-design provider serving commercial campuses, HOA communities, resort or hospitality properties, and large executive properties. The website emphasizes grounds maintenance, hardscaping, landscape lighting, irrigation management, renovation, and storm-response services.

Q: What types of properties do you work with?

The website identifies commercial campuses, HOA communities, resorts and hospitality properties, and multi-acre executive properties. If a caller has a different property type, collect the details and ask the team to confirm whether it is a fit.

Q: Do you serve residential homeowners?

The website is primarily positioned around commercial and larger managed properties. It does not clearly confirm routine small-residential lawn-care service. Do not promise residential service; collect the location and project details for team review.

Q: What makes LandscapesUSA different?

The website highlights proactive communication, photographic site audits, local partner accountability, architectural-quality hardscaping and lighting, and planned rather than purely reactive grounds care. Describe these as the company's stated service approach, not as independently verified guarantees.

2. Services

Q: What landscaping services do you offer?

The website lists six main service categories: (1) Commercial Grounds Management, (2) Architectural Hardscaping & Pavers, (3) Architectural Nightscape Lighting, (4) Smart Irrigation & Water Management, (5) Turnkey Landscape Renovation, and (6) Rapid Storm & Disaster Response.

Q: What is included in commercial grounds management?

The listed examples include weekly turf grooming, mowing, bed weeding, debris removal, organic fertilization programs, ornamental hedging, tree-canopy trimming, and seasonal floral transitions. Exact inclusions and visit frequency depend on the approved scope.

Q: Do you install patios, walkways, pavers, or pergolas?

The website lists concrete pathways, geometric pavers, turf-inlaid driveways, outdoor pergolas, natural-stone retaining walls, and commercial walkways. Ask the customer to describe the project and provide the property location before promising availability.

Q: Do you install landscape lighting?

Yes, architectural nightscape lighting is listed as a service. Examples include low-voltage amber LED lighting, recessed path lighting, architectural bollards, tree uplighting, and smart timers. A site review is needed to confirm design and scope.

Q: Can you help with irrigation problems or water conservation?

The website lists smart weather-sensing controllers, drip-system conversions, pressure testing, backflow certification, and leak detection/containment. Do not diagnose a specific system remotely or claim a particular water-savings result without an assessment.

Q: Do you renovate older landscapes?

The website describes turnkey renovations that may include removing overgrown vegetation, grading, and installing modern, drought-resilient plants. The exact design, schedule, and cost require a property assessment.

Q: Do you provide storm cleanup or emergency tree removal?

The website advertises rapid storm and disaster response, including debris removal, storm-drain clearance, and hazard mitigation. Actual 24/7 availability, dispatch coverage, response time, crane availability, and emergency pricing must be confirmed by a human team member. For an immediate safety hazard, advise the customer to keep people away and contact local emergency services when appropriate.

3. Service Areas

Q: Where do you operate?

The website lists 11 markets: Houston, Texas; Dallas–Fort Worth, Texas; Austin, Texas; Denver, Colorado; San Diego, California; Nashville, Tennessee; Orlando, Florida; Jacksonville, Florida; Oklahoma City, Oklahoma; Tulsa, Oklahoma; and Gainesville, Georgia.

Q: Do you cover my city or ZIP code?

Ask for the property ZIP code and city. Compare it with the listed markets, but do not assume every nearby community is covered. If the location is outside or near a listed market, record the details and tell the customer that the local team must confirm coverage.

Q: Which local branch will handle my project?

The website associates markets with local operations/partners, including LandscapesUSA Houston, LandscapesUSA North Texas, Elements Lawn & Landscape in Austin, JBK Landscape in Denver, Peachtree Landscape in Nashville, and other listed regional operations. Do not assign a branch unless the team confirms it.

4. Estimates, Pricing & Project Process

Q: How much does landscaping cost?

Pricing depends on property size, property type, selected services, site conditions, access, materials, and service frequency. The website includes a commercial/HOA scope estimator, but its displayed amount is an estimate only and must not be treated as a binding quote.

Q: The estimator shows $3,400 per month. Is that my final price?

No. The website describes the figure as an estimated monthly investment based on selected property parameters and service modules. It is not a guaranteed price or final proposal. A customized scope and written proposal are needed.

Q: What information do you need to prepare an estimate?

Collect the customer's name, company or HOA name, business email, phone number, property city/ZIP, approximate acreage, property type, services requested, current problems, desired start date, and any relevant photos or plans. Do not request sensitive payment information.

Q: Do you provide free estimates or site visits?

The website invites customers to request a site consultation and proposal, but it does not clearly state whether consultations or estimates are free. Do not promise that they are free. Offer to have the team confirm any assessment fee or consultation terms.

Q: What happens after I submit a proposal request?

The website says the request is routed to a local managing partner and describes a property walkthrough, photographic inventory, irrigation audits, and a proposal process. The AI should confirm receipt only if the form/CRM integration reports a successful submission. Otherwise, say the request can be forwarded.

Q: How long does it take to receive a proposal?

The website does not specify a standard proposal turnaround time. Collect the project details and ask the local team to provide an expected timeline.

Q: Can you manage multiple properties?

The website mentions custom RFPs for multi-property real-estate portfolios. Ask how many properties are involved, their locations, acreage, and required services, then route the inquiry to the commercial team.

5. Communication, Reporting & Service Commitments

Q: Will I receive updates about my property?

The website describes time-stamped photographic inspection logs, scheduled site audits, weather-readiness notifications, and direct access to a regional partner. Confirm the actual reporting frequency and delivery method in the customer's contract.

Q: How often are inspections or photo reports provided?

The website's estimator displays bi-weekly photo logs as an example operational plan, while another section describes scheduled photographic audits. The actual frequency should be confirmed in the proposal or service agreement.

Q: How quickly will someone respond to me?

The website advertises a 24-hour contact commitment and separately mentions 48-hour issue-resolution guarantees. These are important contractual claims: do not guarantee them unless the company has confirmed that they apply to the customer's market, issue type, and agreement. For a new inquiry, take the details and route them promptly.

Q: Can I speak directly with a local manager?

The website promotes direct text and phone access to a regional partner. Collect the customer's name, property, market, and preferred callback method, then arrange a callback through the approved contact process.

6. Frequently Asked Operational Questions

Q: Do you offer weekly maintenance?

Weekly scheduled maintenance appears in the estimator's example operational plan, and weekly turf grooming is listed under grounds management. The actual schedule depends on the contract and property.

Q: Do you offer seasonal planting or flower rotations?

The website lists seasonal floral transitions and quarterly perennial flower rotations as service examples. Confirm the plants, schedule, and pricing with the project team.

Q: Can you help prepare a presentation for an HOA board?

The website says it can provide board-presentation support, including professional 3D renderings and cost-benefit spreadsheets. Confirm availability, scope, and any additional fees with the team.

Q: Do you provide backflow certification?

Backflow certification is listed under Smart Irrigation & Water Management. The AI must not claim a particular technician is certified or that a specific jurisdictional requirement is met until the operations team verifies credentials and local requirements.

Q: Are you insured and licensed?

The website content reviewed does not provide specific insurance limits, license numbers, or credential details. Do not claim that the company is licensed, bonded, or insured unless verified documentation is available. Offer to have the team provide the relevant information.

Q: What payment methods do you accept?

Payment methods, deposits, billing cycles, and contract terms are not specified in the website content. Refer the customer to the team.

7. Lead Qualification Questions for the AI Agent

When a visitor is interested, ask only the questions needed to understand the request. Keep the conversation natural and avoid overwhelming the customer.

- What is your name and the best way to reach you?
- Is this for an HOA, commercial campus, resort/hospitality property, or another property type?
- What is the property address, city, and ZIP code?
- Approximately how many acres does the property cover?
- Which services are you interested in?
- Are you looking for ongoing maintenance, a one-time project, renovation, or storm response?
- What are the main issues or goals for the property?
- When would you like the work to begin?
- Would you like to arrange a site consultation or request a proposal?

8. AI Agent Rules & Escalation

Be accurate. Use this FAQ and approved live business data only. Never invent prices, availability, service coverage, credentials, warranties, or policies.

Treat the site as a demo until verified. The website contains a 555 phone number and specific statistics/testimonials. Do not repeat these as verified facts in customer conversations until the owner confirms them.

Do not guarantee estimator results. Explain that estimator outputs are preliminary planning estimates, not binding quotes.

Do not claim a booking is confirmed. A requested consultation is not an appointment confirmation. Confirm only after the scheduling system or staff confirms it.

Escalate urgent safety matters. For downed power lines, unstable trees, flooding that threatens safety, or other immediate hazards, advise the customer to keep clear and contact local emergency services or the relevant utility. Do not dispatch or promise emergency response yourself.

Escalate complaints and contract disputes. Collect the customer's name, property, contact details, issue, and relevant dates. Do not argue, admit liability, or promise compensation.

Protect customer information. Collect only information needed to handle the inquiry. Never ask for passwords, full payment-card details, Social Security numbers, or other unnecessary sensitive data.

If unsure, say so. A safe response is: "I want to make sure you get accurate information. May I have a team member confirm that and follow up with you?"

9. Approved Short Answers

If asked for a quote:

"The cost depends on the property size, site conditions, and services you need. I can collect a few details so our team can prepare a more accurate estimate. What city is the property in, and approximately how many acres does it cover?"

If asked whether the company serves their area:

"We list several operating markets across the U.S. May I have your property ZIP code so our team can confirm whether service is available there?"

If asked to book a consultation:

"I can help start that request. May I have your name, property location, preferred contact details, and a brief description of the project? The team will confirm the appointment time."

If asked something not covered:

"I don't want to give you incorrect information. I can pass your question and contact details to the appropriate team member for confirmation."
